Course Description:
This course will introduce you to selected movements in the history of Christianity, from medieval to modern times, that have emphasized the necessity of a distinctive biblical, theological, and social witness that stands in opposition to culture. We will examine closely three movements—the thirteenth and fourteenth-century Franciscans, Anabaptist groups of the sixteenth century, and the twentieth-century Catholic Worker movement—as representative of a diverse tradition of biblical radicalism. In addition, you will have the opportunity to research another figure or movement that typifies a radical approach to faith and practice. In our explorations, we will seek to gain clearer understandings of the characteristics of this tradition and its unique contributions to Christian witness.

Students taking this course should have completed Introduction to Theology and Ethics.

Goals and Objectives:
The goal of the course is to help students develop their capacity for faithful and coherent theological expression in pastoral practice. Students will
- gain a basic understanding of traditions of biblical radicalism,
- sharpen their skills of theological interpretation through the close reading and discussion of primary sources,
- develop an ability to make responsible and relevant use of historic theological writing,
- clarify their own theological and ethical positions.

Required Books:

On Library Reserve:
N.B. All required reading not taken from the three required books for the course, should be posted on the CAMS course site.

Requirements:
1. Course engagement: Thorough preparation for class and active, thoughtful participation in discussion is a basic requirement of the course. Attendance is mandatory. Students will submit a one-paragraph self-assessment of their course engagement, including a grade, in the conclusion of their final, synthetic essay (see 3, below). The following is a rough guide to letter grade assignment: A = completed 95-100% of the reading prior to class discussion, with critical reflection, and engaged thoughtfully and with respect for others in class exchanges; B = completed 85% …; C = completed 75% … Grades should be lowered appropriately for unexcused absences, tardiness, leaving class early, in-class texting or other forms of non-participation. The instructor reserves the right to adjust the reported grade when necessary. (about 10%)

2. Focus essay and report: A short research paper (about 5 pages, 1300-1600 words) on a radical figure or movement of the student’s choice, to be turned in and presented in class on January 18 (see calendar); topic choice and brief bibliography due by midnight January 11 (about 35%) [see list below];

3. Final essay: A synthetic paper (about 10-12 pages, 2400-3200 words) that explores a theme running through the readings of this course, and that locates the student’s own developing theological and ethical stance in relation to the emphases identified as characteristic of biblical/Christian radicalism (due January 26) (55%).

All required written work should be submitted, electronically, to the instructor’s email inbox.

Citation Policy:
Citations in your papers should follow the Seminary standard, which is based on these guides:
Copies of these guides are available at the library and in the Academic Support Center. For help with citation, voice, development of argument, or other aspects of writing, students are encouraged to consult with the ASC early in the semester.

Academic Honesty:
All work turned in to the instructor is expected to be the work of the student whose name appears on the assignment. Any borrowing of the ideas or the words of others must be acknowledged by quotation marks (where appropriate) and by citation of author and source. Use of another’s language or ideas from online resources is included in this policy, and must be attributed to author and source of the work being cited. Failure to do so constitutes plagiarism, and may result in failure of the course. Two occurrences of plagiarism may result in dismissal from the Seminary. Students unfamiliar with issues related to academic honesty can find help from the staff in the Academic Support Center. For the Seminary policy, see the Policy for Academic Honesty in the Student Handbook.

Accessibility and Accommodation:
Students requiring accommodations for a documented physical or learning disability should be in contact with the Director of the Academic Support Center (bherrintonhodge@lpts.edu) during the first two weeks of a semester (or before the semester begins) and should speak with the instructor as soon as possible to arrange appropriate adjustments. Students with environmental or other sensitivities that may affect their learning are also encouraged to speak with the instructor.

Inclusive Language:
In accordance with seminary policy, students are to use inclusive language in class discussions and in written and oral communication by using language representative of the whole human community in respect to gender, sexual orientation, ethnicity, age, and physical and intellectual capacities. Direct quotations from theological texts and translations of the Bible do not have to be altered to conform to this policy. In your own writing, however, when referring to God, you are encouraged to use a variety of images and metaphors, reflecting the richness of the Bible’s images for God. For more information, see http://www.lpts.edu/academics/academic-resources/academic-support-center/online-writing-lab/avoiding-gender-bias.
Policy on late work:
All written assignments are due, unless indicated otherwise, by 11:59 pm on the date given in the syllabus. Students who encounter unusual obstacles to getting an assignment in may ask for an extension of the due date. They should contact the instructor to request an extension before the work comes due. They may speak to the instructor directly, but they are required to communicate by email so as to provide a record of the request. Extensions are granted solely at the discretion of the instructor. Assignments submitted late, when no extension has been granted, will be penalized in the grading by one letter grade increment for every day (a B+ paper becomes a B if one day late, a B- if two days, a C+ if three days, etc.). Assignments submitted more than ten days after the due date will not be accepted.

Use of electronic devices in class:
Do not send or read text messages during class. Cell phones should be turned off. In the event that you have a legitimate need to be accessible during class, you may ask the instructor for an exception to this rule. Laptops should not be used if you cannot trust yourself to restrict your use to note-taking and referring to the assigned primary source readings for the day. You may not access the Internet during class time unless specifically for purposes directly relevant to the course. Any misuse of electronic devices during class time, including checking of email or social networking sites will negatively affect the course grade.

Attendance Policy:
According to the Seminary catalog, students are expected to attend class meetings regularly. In case of illness or emergency, students are asked to notify the instructor of their planned absence from class, either prior to the session or within 24 hours of the class session. Six or more absences (1/4 of the course) may result in a low or failing grade in the course.

Contacting the instructor:
While students are always welcome to speak to the instructor at any time about questions or issues that arise, the most reliable and efficient means of setting up an opportunity to meet and talk over important matters is through email. Students are strongly encouraged to contact the professor when they feel they need clarification on topics and questions that arise in the class, or when they are confronting significant challenges in their learning.
